Fable

Once upon a time there was a student in the Grayling High School who remembered to pay his account in the supply room when it was due. And he lived happily ever afterward.

Advice Gratis

Dear Mr. Cushman:

A very pretty girl with lots of money wishes to marry me but I very dearly love another girl who is rather plain. What shall I do?

Amos Hunter.

Answer

Dear Amos:

By all means, marry the girl you love and send me the name and address of the other.

Mr. Cushman.

Miss Lee—"Well, I'm going to leave you now, and I suppose that the dishonest will cheat and the honest will—"

Voice from the back of the room—"Flunk."

Mr. Smith—What is one of the checks to the increase of population?

Libby M.—A-a-o-h, the census.

Ruth C. (to freshman sitting on signpost)—Hey, Jane, what are you sitting up there for?

Jane K.—Well, Miss Lee said I was to write a composition on a signpost, so I am doing it.

Miss Adams—"Which side of the earth is the heaviest?"

Mary M.—"The dark side, for the light side is the lightest."

Heien, L.—Can you imagine anything worse than a giraffe with a sore throat?

Mary Esther—Yes.

Heien—What?

Mary Esther—A centipede with corns.

Leona M.—The army must be a terrible place.

Laura K.—What makes you think so?

Leona M.—Why, just think what it must be where beds are bunk and meals are mess.

Songs Sung by the Teachers

B. E. Smith—"Sunshine of Your Smile."

Mr. Cushman—"One Alone."

Miss Lee—"There Must Be a Silver Lining."

Miss Adams—"All Sweet Mystery of Life."

JOSEPH HERIC PASSED AWAY

Joseph Heric, father of William J. Heric, of this city passed away at Mercy hospital at 9:15 o'clock yesterday morning after suffering for some time with cancer of the face. For the past eight weeks or more he had been a patient at the hospital.

Mr. Heric was born Nov. 1st, 1853 at Bayfield, in the county of Huron, Canada, where he grew to manhood, coming to Bay City several years ago. The Heric family moved to Grayling from Bay City in the year 1906 and had resided here since that time. Mr. Heric having been employed in the mills. For about 15 years he was a member of the Grayling Citizens band, playing a tuba, to which organization he was loyal at all times.

About three years ago, Mrs. Heric passed away in Bay City, where they were making their home and for most of the time since he has made his home with his son William in this city.

Surviving the deceased are his son, and a daughter, Mrs. Harry Shoemaker of Plymouth, who is unable to get here. Also seven grandchildren survive.

The funeral of the old gentleman will be held Friday morning with services at St. Mary's church.

Why the Sea Does Not Freeze

The sea does not freeze except in the coldest parts of the earth mainly because of its great depth and constant motion. The earth under the water is warmer than the atmosphere above in winter and the cold does not penetrate to the bottom. This warmer water keeps coming to the top keeping the sea water above freezing temperature.

EAT MORE SPUDS URGES SCIENTIST

Research Proves Fallacy of Theory Potatoes Cause Corpulency.

New York.—Eat more potatoes. This was the advice given by Dr. Mikkel Hindhede of Denmark in an address at Columbia university here. Doctor Hindhede was food administrator of his native country during the war and is known as the Herbert Hoover of Denmark. He is a scientist whose researches into food values have given him world-wide fame.

The person who said that a fat man eating a potato was one of earth's most poignant tragedies, according to Doctor Hindhede, sacrificed truth to make a clever phrase. The ban placed on potatoes by current reducing fads, Dr. Hindhede said, is as silly as it is unscientific. Potatoes are among the best health foods, he declared.

"If Americans would eat five times more potatoes," said Doctor Hindhede, "there would be less illness in the nation and the death rate would be materially reduced. There is no more reason for abstaining from eating potatoes than for cutting meat off the menu. Potatoes are 75 per cent water. As part of a balanced diet, they do not cause corpulency."

"Potatoes have as many calories as meat, butter, and eggs but less of vitamin A. Too much vitamin A produces sluggishness and lessens resistance to disease. Too much of this vitamin consumed in food by children causes tonsillitis, eczema, enlarged glands, and anemia."

Denmark is one of the great dairying countries of Europe. Doctor Hindhede pointed out, but practically all Danish farmers, he said, export their butter to England and serve margarine on the family table.

"The people of Denmark eat about a half as much butter as Americans and nearly twenty times as much margarine," said Doctor Hindhede, "and the Danes are celebrated for their health and sturdiness. The death rate in Denmark from tuberculosis, various forms of kidney diseases, and other ailments due primarily to improper diet is about 30 per cent less than the death rate from similar causes in the United States."

Doctor Hindhede illustrated his lecture with 100 charts explanatory of his experiments in Denmark to determine an adequate ration for children and adults. He showed pictures of adults in a perfect state of health after living for a year on nothing but potatoes and vegetable margarine.

"If you want to find out what rats can live on best, you should experiment with rats," he said. "If you want to find out what human beings can live on best, you should experiment with human beings."

During his stay in this country, Doctor Hindhede lectured before a number of universities and scientific bodies. He spoke before the Department of Agriculture in Washington and was entertained at a luncheon at which were present Count Brundage, Danish minister to the United States, Dr. H. W. Wiley, internationally known nutrition expert, and Assistant Secretary of Agriculture—Renick W. Dunlap.

OBITUARY

MRS. MARY CAMERON 1843-1928

On April 11th, 1928, there passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles McCullough, Mrs. Mary Cameron, a resident for more than forty-six years of Crawford and Otsego counties.

Mrs. Cameron was born in Ontario, Canada, Sept. 13, 1843, and on Feb. 18th, 1863, she was united in marriage to John Cameron, who preceded her twenty years ago. To this union were born ten children: Mrs. Anna McCullough, Grayling; William, at Calgary, Alberta, Canada; Mrs. John Stone, Vermilion, Alta; Roderick B. and Kenneth of Detroit; Mrs. P. J. McKian, Wolverine; Mrs. Clarence Sisson, Gaylord; D. A. Cameron, Hancock, Mich.; Mrs. Jessie Hisey, Chicago, and Mrs. Albert Trathen, Shawano, Wis.

Mrs. Cameron was a woman of fine Christian character, and was a member for many years of the Presbyterian church. The funeral was held on Saturday, April 14th, from the residence of Charles McCullough. Rev. J. W. Greenwood of the Michigan Memorial church officiating at the home and at Fairview cemetery, Gaylord, where interment took place.

With the exception of William and Mrs. John Stone, both of whom reside in Alberta, Canada, the entire family were present at the funeral. There were also in attendance, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. McKian, Mr. and Mrs. Holland McKian, Mrs. N. K. Lundgren, Clarence Sisson, Jr., Mrs. Spencer Holst, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. W. Murchison, and Mr. and Mrs. D. Murchison, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Bender, Lansing; Mr. Wm. McCullough, Kenosha, Wis.; Mrs. Wm. McCullough, Jr., Highland Park; and Mr. and Mrs. H. Hutchins, Petoskey.

She leaves to mourn her loss a devoted and loyal family, many grandchildren and great-grandchildren, and a host of relatives and friends.

"To know her was to love her."

BOY 14 DIES FROM MOONSHINE

Ashley Short, 14 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. David Short of Frederic died at Mercy Hospital Tuesday forenoon. The cause of death is given as alcoholic poisoning. He was brought to the hospital suffering from delirium tremens. He was taken ill last Thursday when he and two other boys, according to the stories of the latter, visited Harvey's camp near Alba.

The two boys claim that Short didn't get any liquor while in their presence. They say he complained of not feeling well and had to be helped back to Alba where they took the train to Frederic. He went home and went to bed but was ill during the night. The following day he was taken to the hospital. Due to the delirious condition of the young man's mind while at the hospital the physicians were unable to get any kind of statement from him as to where he obtained the moonshine which, it is claimed, caused his death. The young lad was born in Roscommon and for several years had been living with his parents in Frederic. His funeral is being held in Frederic today.

M. E. LADIES AID BANQUETS CHAIR

On Monday evening of this week, a very delightful banquet was given by the Ladies' Aid of the Michelson Memorial church, Grayling, to the choir of that church.

During the last year, a splendid musical organization has been built up largely due to the able leadership and untiring efforts of Mrs. (Dr.) Clippert, and the Aid members felt that such an aggregation of musical talent ought to be remembered in a tangible way.

The tables were set in the league rooms of the church, and at 6 p. m. the immediate members of their families as invited guests, were seated. Mrs. H. Schmidt, on behalf of the Aid, expressed the appreciation of the ladies of their organization for the splendid services rendered by the choir, and formally offered the banquet in appreciation of the choir's loyalty and service.

After a very sumptuous repast had been partaken of, Mr. Greenwood acting as toastmaster made a few opening remarks, thanking the Aid for their thoughtfulness, and praising their spirit for planning such an event. He then called upon Mr. W. W. Lewis, who on behalf of the choir members paid tribute to the splendid leadership of Mrs. Clippert, and to her complete surprise, presented her with a beautiful basket of flowers, with a card of presentation signed by the members of the choir. Mrs. Clippert fittingly responded in a few well chosen words, after which Mr. Greenwood gave a short outline of the place of music in life. Mr. Jarmin closed the remarks of the evening, by speaking as a lay member of the choir—kindly words of affection and loyalty for Mrs. Clippert.

The happy occasion was closed by all standing and singing "Blest be the tie that binds," and many were the words of hearty congratulation to all those who made this banquet possible.

MUST HAVE PERMIT TO BURN GRASS AND BRUSH

A permit must be secured before any open fire may be started from the Department of Conservation, Lansing. Or application may be made to any Deputy State Game Warden. The penalty for setting fires without permit are severe therefore citizens planning to burn brush, grass or other combustible materials should first secure a permit to do so.

No fire shall be set for 48 hours after mailing application for permit. Be sure to get your permit first and save trouble.

CARD OF THANKS

We acknowledge with sincere gratitude the kind expressions of sympathy during our late bereavement. Also we appreciate the kindness of those who donated their automobiles at the funeral.

ARTHUR FOURNIER DIES IN HOLLYWOOD

Arthur Fournier died in Hollywood, Calif., April 13th, after an illness of only about six hours. He was the son of Mrs. Julia Fournier and the late Lucien Fournier of Royal Oak. He was 37 years of age. His mother was with him at the time of his death, having just arrived from a tour that took her thru the Panama canal.

Arthur was born in Grayling where he grew up to young manhood and graduated from Grayling schools in the year 1906. Later he attended the University of Michigan and Notre Dame. Like his father, he had a talent for music and in his later years was a musical composer in which profession he gained considerable renown. He had just completed two operettas upon which he had been working for the past two years and only two weeks before his death he had arranged for their production.

Arthur never married. He was in love with his work and in the pursuit of his studies he spent much time in musical circles of Europe. He was a finished musician as well as ranking high as a composer.

A large circle of old friends of Arthur are grieved by his untimely passing away, and will share with Mrs. Fournier in her sorrow. It is understood that his remains will be brought to Royal Oak for interment.

The following article was taken from a Los Angeles newspaper:

Musical circles of Los Angeles grieved today over the sudden death of Arthur Fournier, one of the leaders of the younger musical set here.

Mr. Fournier, who was 37 years old, died early this morning of eucenic poisoning after an illness of but four hours.

He was taken ill at the Hollywood Athletic club after dinner last night, and succumbed shortly after midnight this morning.

Mr. Fournier had planned to move into his new home with his mother at 1641 Martel avenue this morning. He had returned only a few days ago from New York, where he had completed arrangements for the production next season of one of his operettas, "The Hungarian Rhapsody," for he had written both the score and libretto.

L. A. Production

Plans for the production of another of his works, "The Squaw Girl," in Los Angeles this fall were also practically completed.

The young composer, considered one of the most promising of the musical generation, was born in Grayling, Mich., and was educated at Notre Dame and the University of Michigan. His early aptitude for music made it inevitable that he should become a leader in theatrical affairs at school, and he composed the first of the operettas given by the students of the Michigan university.

He came to Los Angeles in 1916, but left here after a year to study abroad. With Von Bartels, the famous instructor of Munich, he studied composition, harmony and orchestration. Another year he spent in Vienna with Franz Lehár, celebrated composer of "The Merry Widow" and other equally well known works.

He returned from abroad three years ago and shortly afterward finished his "Hungarian Rhapsody," an operetta with a Vinnese flavor.

Year With Indians

Then he put in another year with the Indians in New Mexico, studying their musical themes, which gave him the basis of his opera, "The Squaw Girl."

Both of these works were to be staged next season, according to his plans.

Despite his intensive musical training Mr. Fournier found time to take a prominent part in Red Cross affairs during the World war.

He was a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity, the University club and the Chapparral club here.

Funeral arrangements are being completed today while the body lies at the White funeral parlor.

PLEASURE AND WORK

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

I HAVE often heard it said of students in college that their instructors were so unreasonable in giving them difficult assignments to study that they had no time for their regular work, meaning, of course, that unless you are bright and quick and know better than the average how to apportion your time, when you have worked up your studies you have no time for pleasures and the extra-curricular work of college.

There are a great many people who are so obsessed with pleasure that they can find no time for work. Pleasure is a good thing, but we are giving more time to it now than we have ever before done.

Out in Fairfield, Iowa, now, if you don't get the family washing on the line before noon, you are likely to run into trouble. If the weekly ironing drags on beyond luncheon time, or whatever they call the meal in the middle of the day in that village, you are likely to have a call from a member of the police force. The sweeping must be done in the morning so that the afternoon may be free for the uninterrupted transmission of what ever is on the air. Afternoons and evenings are reserved for radio owners.

This is what the newspapers said a few weeks ago:

"The new ordinance, forbidding the use of electrical appliances which interfere with radio sets between noon and midnight, went into effect today and owners of receiving sets, with the town officials, are keeping vigilant ears tuned for the first unnecessary and unlawful interference with their daily programs."

"Now operators of violet-ray machines, housewives with washing machines or vacuum cleaners which produce static in neighbors' loud speaker-owners of any electrical appliance which interferes with radio reception—must finish their work before noon or be subject to a maximum penalty of $100 fine or thirty days in jail."

"As the only exception, physicians will be allowed to use X-ray machines in case of emergency."

There is a certain satisfaction in knowing that physicians may still pursue their electrical practices during the afternoons even though it does interfere somewhat with the pleasure of the radio fan. When I was a boy and lived in the country it was not customary for anyone to get sick excepting at night when the regular work of the day was over. All sensible people, in recent years, have learned that they receive more sympathetic attention if they confine their serious illnesses to daylight hours. It would be a good idea to have a law that would require treatment only in the morning. Possibly it may come to that later as the thirst for pleasure grows more intense.

On Prince Edward's Island until very recent years automobiles were kept off the public thoroughfares on Sundays and market days in order that they might not interfere with the religious and business interests of those who were driving horses into town. This was the inhibition of pleasure in order that business and spiritual matters might not be interfered with. We are coming to the point, I am afraid, however, where if work interferes with pleasure it will have to stop aside.

Storms on the Sun

The flames of fire which shoot out from the surface of the sun are often ten times as long as the earth's diameter and scientists in their vigils have seen one flame which measured more than 88,000 miles and traveled at the rate of 3,000 miles a minute. These flames are seen only through a specially constructed instrument.

DOMESTIC SUGAR INDUSTRY FACES SERIOUS CRISIS

Philippine Product Made
With Cheap Labor and Duty Free Called Menace.

Chicago.—Rising flood of Philippine sugar entering the United States duty free has confronted the domestic sugar industry with the gravest economic crisis in years, according to W. L. Petrik, president of the Great Western Sugar company of Denver.

"In view of the resolution introduced by Congressman Timberlake of Colorado to protect the domestic industry against the increasing invasion of Philippine sugar by permitting not more than 500,000 tons annually to enter free," said Mr. Petrik, "Philippine Commissioners Gabaldon and Guevara have attempted to convince congress that the domestic industry is not menaced by unlimited imports of duty-free sugar from the islands."

"The statement of the commissioners that from 1923 to 1926 the annual average export of sugar was 398,960 tons is entirely misleading. They neglected to state that between 1923 and 1926 Philippine exports to the United States increased 60 per cent and that between 1918 and 1927 exports have leaped from 60,537 tons to 473,674 tons, a gain of more than 680 per cent."

"A 300,000-ton limit on Philippine sugar imposed by congress in 1909 was discontinued in 1918. Between 1909 and 1927 sugar imports from the islands had increased more than 1,108 per cent as compared with an average increase of 113 per cent from our other chief sources of supply, including Cuba, Hawaii, Porto Rico, Louisiana, and the domestic sugar beet industry."

"Over-expansion in tropical countries has confronted the domestic industry with the gravest crisis in years. Domestic sugar companies have recently found it difficult to make ends meet. Continuation of unlimited duty-free imports from the Philippines, which are not legally defined as an integral part of the United States, may ultimately wipe out an income to our continental farmers of $100,000,000 annually and a large investment in factories."

FOOD PRODUCT ADDS TO FARMER REVENUE

New York.—Margarine is a food product of peculiar interest not only to the country's housewives but to 5,000,000 producers of live stock in the nation.

To the home manager it represents an economical way of whitening down the food bill. From the live-stock raiser's viewpoint, increased consumption of margarine means additional revenue, since certain fats of beef cattle and hogs are worth more when used in the manufacture of margarine than for any other purpose.

The production in the United States of 242,054,998 pounds of uncolored and 14,501,929 pounds of colored margarine for the year ending July 30, 1927, meant millions of dollars more revenue to farmers than if no margarine had been produced. Margarine is primarily an animal product in the making of which oils made from the choice fats of beef and pork are used. These are combined with small quantities of the highest grade of refined peanut, cottonseed and coconut oils and blended with milk, salt and sometimes butter to produce the finished product.

In the countries of Europe, margarine is much more of a recognized food than in America. The average Dane eats 45½ pounds of margarine annually; the Norwegian 35½; the Hollander 15.2½; the German 12½; and the English 11¼ pounds. Per capita consumption in the United States is only 2 pounds yearly.

DELL WALT PASSED AWAY TUESDAY

Dell Walt, age 32 years died at Mercy Hospital Tuesday night at 9:30 o'clock, from self inflicted wounds, when during a period of despondency on January 16th he attempted to take his own life.

Since that time he had been a patient at the hospital, where every effort was made to save him. The wound was in the chest and the bullet glazing the heart and lodging very near to the spine. Paralysis followed and there was apparently little hope that he would ever be able to be about again. He was repentant and sorry for his deed and was a patient and hopeful sufferer right up to within a few hours before he passed away. Mrs. Walt was with him almost constantly and helped to cheer him on in his fight to recover. Friends were most kind to him and always there were plenty of flowers and other favors to keep his room cheerful. On Monday it appeared that he could hold off the inevitable time no longer. He requested that his funeral be conducted by the Masonic order of which he was a member, and requested that he be laid to rest beside the body of Joe Kraus.

The two were warm friends as well as brother-in-laws and had spent much time together. J. Dell Walt was born at Pains Station, Saginaw county, February 13, 1896. He attended the public school in Saginaw and about ten years ago the family moved to Bay City. September 6th, 1921 he was united in marriage to Miss Augusta Kraus of this city where they have since made their home.

Mr. Walt was at one time a salesman for the Roy Perkins Produce Co. of Bay City. Later he traveled for the Metro Film Co. for six years and for the last six months before his misfortune was a salesman for the Fox Film Corporation, Chicago. He had many friends wherever he went. Everybody liked Dell. He had a sunny disposition that attracted and held good friends, and one never heard unpleasant remarks about people come from him. He was a good Mason and also was a loyal member of Grayling Post 106 American Legion, having served his country in the World war.

The deceased is survived by his wife and parents, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Walt of Bay City and the following brothers and sisters: Frank Walt, Bay City, Mrs. C. H. Townsend, Charles and George Walt, Detroit; Mrs. George M. Weaver and Arthur Walt, Chicago, and Peter Walt, St. Louis, Mo. With exception of the latter all will be present at the funeral.

The funeral service for Dell Walt will be held at Michelson Memorial church Friday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock and will be conducted by Rev. John Wilfred Greenwood, pastor of the church, who will be assisted by the Masonic fraternity. The remains will be taken to Lansing for burial Saturday morning.

to support the hospital. While there seems to be some opposition to the appropriation, especially, we understand, in Frederic, we believe it should be passed. It means keeping Mercy hospital here or no hospital at all. We hope there will be unanimous favor for it on the Board of Supervisors.

Grayling has a Federal flying field, that means much to this community. The army regulations demand that flying fields be located not more than three miles from a hospital.

MERCY HOSPITAL AID Society is asking that the County Board of Supervisors appropriate annually the sum of $1,500 toward the expense of operation. To indicate the general sentiment of the people on the question petitions were passed and hundreds signed asking that the Board grant the request.

Hospitals everywhere have to be endowed or otherwise aided financially in order to exist. This is no guess work but is a fact and can easily be proven. Hospitals are a losing proposition. What are we to do? Shall the hospitals be closed or shall the tax payers help to pay the cost of maintenance? One thing is certain, the money has to be raised from some source. Shall we expect individuals to pay the costs, or shall the expense be shared equally in accordance with the wealth of the property owners? Or shall the hospital management meet the patients at the door and ask "Have you the money with which to pay your bill?" Or shall the hospital close its doors?

It is for the supervisors to decide the question as to whether or not the tax payers are going to assume a part of the burden of keeping the hospital in Grayling. In the first place the members of the Board should determine whether or not the hospital is a needed institution, and it does seem that there should be no question as to its great importance to the people of this county. We have heard opinions expressed that the hospital is very much needed, and that it would be better that any other institution except the school be lost rather than the hospital.

Let's look at this matter in a sensible way. Hundreds can testify to the need of a hospital here. We already have an exceptionally good one of which any community may justly be envious. It means protection to the people. It means life and health. It is life insurance for those of us who reside here; it means protection for those who have summer homes in this county. There are people coming to this part of the state annually who are able to pay for any service that may be required, especially such as may pertain to their health, of the health of their families. Does a well established and well managed hospital mean anything to their security and contentment? It does, decidedly so. People of that type value a good hospital as an asset. The hospital means good doctors; with a hospital we couldn't possibly hope to keep skilled physicians and surgeons. That's of much value too to the community.

It's worth a lot to Grayling to keep Mercy hospital here. The cost is little compared to the great good it does. The Hudson Post-Gazette only last week stated that the City council has passed a resolution appropriating annually $8,000 for their hospital. Hudson is a city of 2464 inhabitants—14 more than Grayling. If the nurses were drawing regular nurse's salaries the $1,500 asked for wouldn't be anywhere near enough

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES
OF THE AVANCEE OF 23 YEARS AGO.

Thursday, March 16, 1905

Miss Lillian Bates is spending a few weeks on Grandpa Bates' farm in Maple Forest.

Mrs. J. B. Woodburn was called to Eaton Rapids Saturday morning on account of the sudden death of her mother.

Miss Cora Vandewater returned to her parents at Owosso her school at Johannesburg having closed on account of scarlet fever.

O. Palmer went to Chicago Saturday for the balance of the Avancee equipment. It will take a little time yet to get it all in, but it is coming.

Born—On Wednesday, March 8, to Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Claggett, of Johannesburg, a daughter. Sid weighs almost a ton and is doing as well as can be expected.

With the mercury 5 degrees below zero Saturday morning Charles Ingerson claimed he saw a robin. As we were anxious to realize that spring was coming we asked what brand he used that morning, but he wouldn't tell, and so we continued to shiver.

Of course the band concert Friday evening last was a success in every way—financially, artistically and in point of attendance and appreciation. "William Tell" was well received and Grayling certainly has a right to be proud of a musical organization, composed almost entirely of home talent, that can so successfully render such a composition as Rossini's masterpiece, which has held entrance the most critical musical audiences of the great cities of the world. The "Angelic Chorus" was particularly well handled, and there was no lack of appreciation by the audience of every number on the programme. The band boys wish to say thank you to the public for the good attendance.

Only thirty-nine votes were cast at the village election Monday. Only one ticket and everybody satisfied.

The following are the lucky ones:

President—H. A. Bauman.

Clerk—H. P. Olson.

Assessor—J. J. Collen.

Treasurer—M. Hanson.

Trustees—C. O. McCullough, W. F. Brink and Axel Michelson.

Died—In this village, March 12, 1905, Daniel Head, aged 92 years, 10 months and 10 days.

About 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon two heavy freight trains met in head-on collision about a mile below Cheney, with such force that the engines were thoroughly impacted in front, ends of boilers, running boards, rods, etc., made into junk, tenders and seven cars completely wrecked, so the debris was burned to remove the wood. Conductor Hayward, with Engineer George O'Brien, going south.

O'Brien and his fireman jumped and the fireman was but slightly hurt, while a door torn from a car caught O'Brien, bruising his back considerably, but not thought to be dangerous.

Conductor Sims coming north with Engineer A. W. Lamb. Mr. Lamb and his fireman also jumped and the fireman escaped unhurt, but the engineer in some way fractured an arm in five places between the wrist and elbow. Both were taken to Bay City and at this writing are reported comfortable. The accident was caused by the operator at Roscommon failing to display the signal ordered by telegraph.

Died—March 7th, at her home in Royal Oak, Mrs. Barbara Erb, mother of Mrs. L. Fournier. Mrs. Erb was born in Germany, Dec. 17th 1820. With her husband and two small children she came to America in 1849, settling first in Albany, N. Y. Later they came to Michigan, finally making a home in Royal Oak, in which home Mrs. Erb lived for the last 48 years.

Last Thursday night nineteen members of Crawford tent, No. 192, K. G. T. M. M., went up to Frederic to give the new Frederic tent, No. 927, a brotherly lift in getting started.

It proved a delightful occasion in every way, socially and fraternally. The Crawford degree team put an extra polish on their usually impressive handling of the fine initiatory work of the order, and both the candidate and the charter members were sure that Macabeanism meant something when the ceremony was over.

Mrs. S. Phelps has gone to Holly and vicinity for a visit with her parents and sister.

Geo. L. Alexander and M. Hanson were the delegates from this county to the judicial convention at Standish last week.

Fred Alexander is home from the University for a rest. He has been too strenuous in his study, for his health, but got there in his work.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Winslow, of Frederic, were called to mourn the loss of their baby girl. Last week, which was buried in our village cemetery.

Born—Thursday, March 16, to Mr. and Mrs. Peter E. Johnson, a daughter. This is No. 12. They are young yet. Carry the news to "Teddy."

N. Michelson is putting the steel ceiling on the store room which he kindly allowed us to occupy after the Avancee fire until we moved into our new home. He will hardly know the place after his improvements are completed.

A quite home wedding was celebrated at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Holbrook last Sunday, the event being the marriage of their daughter Mary, and Mr. C. F. Stewart of Vassar, Perry Ostrander, Esq., an uncle of the bride, officiating. After a brief visit in Indiana and Ohio they will be "at home" in Vassar.

The coming of the new hardwood flooring plant is undoubtedly assured. It is an immense concern with a capacity of twelve million feet of finished product a year, and a home pay roll of from sixty to seventy thousand dollars a year. We hope in our next issue to give a description more in detail. It will be a welcome addition to the industrial interests of our prospering village.

The new gasoline lighting plant installed in the hardware store of A. Kraus is an immense success, making it one of the best lighted salerooms in the village.

The M. C. R. R. Co. have under consideration the erection of a new round house at this place, with a capacity of twenty-four stalls, and will add the necessary room for tools and repairing. The plans for the plant are completed and we confidently expect it will be erected here, on the grounds of this side of the north semaphores. It will mean quite a number of new families for permanent homes.

Hon. Thomas E. Double was called home from Lansing last week by the death of his father, who was buried Sunday. He returned to the capital Tuesday.

STOP! OBEY THE GOLDEN RULE

By Edwin Greer
(President Greer School of Electrical and Automobile Trades, Chicago, Ill.)

The average man who is bent on buying an automobile or an airplane may ask: "As his first question, the price of the conveyance offered him, but the runner up query is, 'What's the power?' or 'How fast can she go?'"

It has come to be a cardinal passion with the American people, to arrive somewhere in the shortest possible time from a given point of departure. This passion expresses itself most pervasively of course, in automobile circles for the simple reason that there are so many automobiles. If we do not hear so much about the airplane traveling, it is because airplanes are still confined to the few.

Nerve specialists are considerably perturbed by this latter-day mania for speed. They find that it tends to make men and women restless and high strung and to reduce their capacity for relaxation. The average person will be inclined to say to the alienist's warning, "I should worry."

Very little is heard these days of speed competition by railroad trains. The competition rather has been in the direction of reducing the hazards of railroad travel. The companies have installed all sorts of safety devices, partly to be sure, because legally required to do so, but more largely of late on their own initiative because they believed it to be good policy and good business.

After more than a quarter of a century of struggling on the part of psychologists, educators, city managers, traffic officers, police chiefs and such, a universal rule for traffic regulation at last has been found.

Curiously enough, the new rule dates back several thousands of years before automobiles, semaphores, pedestrian control and such things had come into being. In fact, the new rule is one of the oldest precepts in the world—one that can be applied successfully to the whole range of human conduct.

Credit must be given to bright minds in eastern cities, as that is where the latest discovery originated. But the thought is spreading rapidly, and now in some California cities this rule is posted in taxicabs, omnibuses and all sorts of vehicles. This new-old rule is none other than our ancient friend of the schoolboy copybooks—the Golden Rule.

Chocolate that appears white on the outside has been kept in an over-warm place, so that some of the fat has melted and come to the surface. It is not injured in any way for use.

There is no reason why fresh or properly preserved fish should not be eaten at the same meal as milk. Fish and milk are often cooked together in the form of milk chowders or creamed dishes.

Dandelion greens can be gathered very early in the season, when they are young, tender, and least bitter. Owing to this bitterness of flavor, it is a good plan to combine the dandelion greens with other vegetables or flavors which modify it. The plan of cooking these greens in several waters is not recommended because much valuable mineral matter is thrown away, vitamins are destroyed, and the greens are overcooked. Raw dandelion leaves or those cooked

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

Agricultural High Schools To Judge at State Meet

East Lansing, April 17.—Students enrolled in agriculture in the Smith-Hughes high schools in Michigan will make their annual pilgrimage to Michigan State College on May 3 and 4 for the contests held during Junior Farmers Week.

The 166 high schools which teach agriculture sent 1642 of their pupils to East Lansing last year. The boys, this year, will compete in grain and livestock judging, participate in a public speaking contest, and be guests at a banquet and a varsity baseball game.

Speakers on the banquet program will be R. S. Shaw, acting president of Michigan State; W. H. Pearce, state superintendent of public instruction; E. E. Gallup, state director of vocational agricultural training, and Harry Kipke, football coach at the College.

The Reo Motor company will be hosts to the junior farmers and will throw their plant open for the inspection of the boys on Friday, May 4. The winners in the dairy cattle judging will represent Michigan this year at the National Dairy Show, and the premier livestock judges will represent the State at the Royal Livestock Show held in Kansas City.

"Use scrub sires to make good hash, but purebred sires to get the cash," is a slogan suggested to arouse interest in promoting the use of purebred bulls.

The use of cod liver oil in the feeding of livestock has increased its demand to such a degree that imports last year exceeded 2,500,000 gallons, valued at nearly $2,000,000.

Some simple rules for taking care of the dairy cow at calving time are given in Leaflet No. 10-L, just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. It is called "Care of the Dairy Cow at Calving Time." A copy may be procured by writing to the Department, giving name and number of the leaflet.

The huge economic losses caused yearly by woods fires should make everybody realize the importance of fire prevention. The South is responsible for the burning yearly of about 20,000,000 acres of forest and cut-over land, or about four-fifths of the total forest area burned in the United States. This represents a money loss running into many millions of dollars.

Young dairy heifers should at all times have plenty of roughage which is best furnished in late spring and summer, by green pasture. In addition, enough grain should be fed so that the heifer develops steadily and gains from 1 to 1½ pounds a day. If skim milk is plentiful and cheap, it may be fed advantageously to the dairy heifer until she is 8 or 10 months old.

Specialists in the United States Department of Agriculture have found that when a farmer keeps accounts he has the best guide for improvement of his business. Farm accounts show which of his activities have proved most profitable, and which have been conducted with little profit or loss. The farmer is then able either to concentrate on the profitable ventures or to substitute other activities which may bring good profits for those that have not been profitable.

The combined harvester-thresher is making its way eastward. Successful in California for many years, the combine has given general satisfaction in harvesting wheat in the Great Plains Region. The combine cuts down the cost of harvesting and threshing, they reduce the amount of labor needed, and shorten the harvest and threshing period. Combines shouldn't be expected to make the success in the moist, Eastern States that they have in the semi-arid western wheat-growing regions. However, a farmer who has a big acreage of crops to be harvested, or who can use his combine on neighboring farms, may find the machine a profitable investment. Indications are that the combine will be used more in many sections of the East in the next few years.

Pointers on Painting
Spring is a good time of year to paint farm buildings and implements. Not only does paint improve the appearance of buildings, but it protects them from the weather and is the cheapest way of keeping them in good condition. Painting should not be delayed too long, if wood has begun to rot or iron to rust, the deterioration will continue even after paint has been applied. Outside painting should be done when the surfaces to be painted are dry and the weather is not too damp or cold. Buildings should be painted every three to five years, sometimes oftener than this. New wooden buildings should be given a priming coat of paint as soon as possible and a finishing coat within the next month or two. Before exposure to the weather or to dampness, both the wooden and metal parts of farm implements and machinery should be painted. When painting outside surfaces, two or three thin coats are better than one thick one. The U. S. Department of Agriculture in Farmers' Bulletin 1452-F gives detailed information on paints and painting.

How It Paid To Keep Books
An Iowa farmer and his son worked the farm and kept accounts for a year. At the end of the year they compared their results with accounts kept by other farmers and summarized by extension workers. They made a list of what had proved to be good crop yields and good returns from hogs. Their livestock returned $170 for each $100 of food consumed, and the hog receipts amounted to $149 per sow. The weak points were found to be that dairy product receipts were only $24 per cow, also that the farm allowed for only 41 crop acres per man, 17 crop acres per horse, and that it was cut up into 12 small irregular fields. As a result of this analysis the father and son made some changes the following year. They rented more land to bring up the number of crop acres per man and horse. They replanned the fields and reduced the number in the interest of efficiency of labor. They introduced a minor rotation for hogs. They sold two scrub cows and purchased three of a good dairy breed. The results were 67 crop acres per man, 20 per horse, and an increase to $45 in receipts per cow kept.

WILD WHITE SWANS ARE BACK
(By E. M. T. Service)
Wild white swans are back in East Michigan and this year in some new places. One of the places which has been selected as a new gathering place for these beautiful birds is Sanford, Midland county, where new artificial lakes have been formed by the power dams. The advent of the wild white swans is given pleasure to lovers of wild life and bird life in the vicinity, according to the Midland Republican, and efforts will be made to encourage the birds to make a home there.

We will be content with the outcome of the Pan-American Congress if the republics south of us promise not to give us any more banana songs, Atlanta Constitution.

RECIPE FOR TODAY
(By Betty Barclay)
Quick Sweets
1 cup flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons shortening
¾ cup milk
1 cup puffed raisins
4 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons butter
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Sift together flour, salt, and baking powder. Cut in shortening and add sufficient milk to make a soft dough. Roll ¼-inch thick. Cut in 6-inch squares. Place a small handful of raisins in the center of each, with one teaspoon sugar and ¼ teaspoon butter. Wet edges of dough with cold water and fold over the raisins, pressing edges tightly together. Brush with milk and roll in remaining sugar and cinnamon which have been mixed together. Place ¼ teaspoon butter on top of each sweet and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.). 15 minutes. Serve hot with lemon sauce made as follows:
1 cup sugar
¼ cup butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon lemon extract
1 cup boiling water
Cream butter with sugar and flour. Add boiling water and boil one minute. Remove from fire, add lemon extract, and serve hot.

MONTH IN MICHIGAN KEEPS HIM HEALTHY ALL YEAR

(By E. M. T. Service)
Many persons who have sampled the loveliness of East Michigan's summertime attractions become confirmed addicts. Moreover, they talk these attractions to their friends twelve months in the year. They get the outsider's slant on the natural appeals. The native, used to seeing and being close to these recreational attributes day after day throughout the year, takes them matter-of-factly. This is natural. It wasn't the native of California who made it an outstanding tourist state. It was the native of other states. Gene Matheson who publishes the live little newspaper at Roscommon has received the following letter from a resident of Chicago and it is printed to accent the point made above. This man attributes his health to the month he spends annually in Michigan. He writes:
"Last year I sent out 500 blotters (E. M. T. blotters). They circulated among the best people of 'Beverly Hills,' Chicago. No doubt they did some good. What have you to send me that I may enclose in my monthly statements this year? I am a great booster for that part of Michigan. I talk Higgins Lake, Houghton Lake and the north country all year. I expect to come early in the spring to look the old place over. Do you know a month of outdoor air and pure water and real clear sunshine keep us well all winter? What greater investment? There are five of us and I believe my good resistance and health are due to the days I spend up there."

CONTINUE TO MAKE MODEL "T" FOR PARTS
Detroit, April 16.—The manufacture of replacement parts for the millions of Model "T" Ford cars still in daily use continues to demand nearly one third the production capacity of Ford plants here.
Ford officials estimate, from reports of dealers all over the country, that there are still approximately eight millions of the Model "T" cars in constant use in the United States. Some of these cars are many years old. Every now and then there are reports of Ford cars of the old brass-bound radiator types of twelve or fourteen years ago, still running after more than a hundred thousand miles of service.
The newest of the Model "T" Fords is now nearly a year old, for the production of assembled Model "T" cars was suspended in May 1927 to make way for the new Model "A".
This suspension of assembled Model "T" cars did not affect the production schedule of Model "T" replacement parts, however. Throughout the past year the manufacture of Model "T" parts continued to occupy about one third the production capacity of the Ford plants.

A few days ago newspaper correspondents here asked Henry Ford how long he expected to continue making parts for Model "T" cars.
"Until the last Model 'T' is off the roads," Mr. Ford replied promptly. Then he added: "That may be ten years, but we do not intend to allow any Ford car ever to become obsolete as long as it can be made useful with reasonable replacements."
Ford engineers, from tests and observations made over a long period of years, have estimated that the average useful life of a Model "T" Ford car is about seven years.

Shortcake Like Ma Made
Strawberry shortcake like mother used to make has staged a return to popular favor.
It's back on the dinner table again in its old-fashioned splendor, whipped cream and all, back after biscuits and cake dough have begun to pall on the whitest American palate. And is it a toothsome dainty, that shortcake of mother's?
Try the appended recipe in your oven and let the mouth-watering result speak for itself.
Old-Fashioned Shortcake.
Ingredients: Two cups of flour, four teaspoons of baking powder, one-half teaspoon of salt, six tablespoons of margarine or butter, three-quarters of a cup of milk, also two tablespoons of sugar, if slightly sweetened dough is preferred.
Sift the dry ingredients together, cut or rub in margarine or butter until mealy looking, and add milk to make soft dough. Flour board well, toss dough onto it, sprinkle flour over dough, and roll the mass out one-half inch thick. Cut with a large biscuit cutter for individual shortcakes, while for one shortcake, divide dough into two equal parts, rolling each one just to fit a deep cake pan. Place one on top of the other, set in ungreased baking pans and bake at 450 Fahrenheit for about twelve minutes.
When done, slit in two crosswise, spread one-half generously with margarine or butter, then with berries, placing the other half on top and cover this with whipped cream and more berries.

AMSTERDAM CREAM
FOR CHAPPED HANDS, FACE, LIPS AND SORENESS OF SKIN
A DELICIOUS EMOLLIENT FOR DAILY USE AS A BEAUTIFIER
Will make the skin clean, smooth and white and preserve it from the action of drying winds, colds and bright sunlight. Relieves itching, eczema and all skin eruptions. ALCOHOL 15%
For gentlemen after shaving it will be found superior to alcoholic toilet waters.

VAST INDUSTRIES TRACE ORIGIN TO NAPOLEONIC WARS

Two Staple Foods Result From Privations During Crises in France.

Chicago.—Waves of the two Napoleons gave the United States two staple food commodities on which American households spend millions of dollars every day, according to a bulletin issued here by the American Research Foundation.

"Beet sugar which Americans consume to the extent of 2,000,000,000 pounds annually was the contribution of Napoleon I," says the bulletin, "while margarine of which we use 250,000,000 pounds yearly was made possible by Napoleon III in the stormy days of the Franco-Prussian war."

The principle of crystallizing sugar from beets was discovered by Andrew Margraff, a German scientist, in 1747, but Napoleon I was the first to give commercial application to the discovery in his wars against England for world supremacy. The British naval blockade prevented cane sugar from the tropics from reaching France and confronted the nation with a sugar famine.

"So Napoleon determined to make France independent of other countries for its sugar supply by utilizing sugar beets. He set aside huge tracts of land, compelled the planting of sugar beets by imperial decree in 1811 and within two years financed the erection of 334 beet sugar factories.
"Impetus given to beet culture by Napoleon carried the industry to the United States where it was first undertaken at Northampton, Mass., in 1838. From this beginning beet sugar manufacturing has developed into a great American industry representing an investment of $200,000,000 in factories and equipment and production in excess of 900,000 tons of sugar annually.

"Origin of margarine was equally romantic. The siege of Paris by the Prussian army in 1870 threatened starvation to the beleaguered city. Cattle driven inside the walls as a food reserve were being rapidly slaughtered and the life-giving fat was being destroyed. Napoleon III in desperation offered a prize to anyone who would transform the finer fats into a inedible product. Six tiny little Mège-Mouries, a French chemist, discovered a method of imitating nature's process of producing milk fat by combining beef tallow, milk, and oil. The result was a food of great palatability which was called margarine.

"The French scientist's discovery failed to save the beleaguered city but it established a world-wide industry because of the wholesomeness and economy of the product. The Prussians carried the formula for making margarine back to Germany whence it was passed on to England, Denmark, Belgium, and eventually to America.
"From an output of a few thousand pounds, margarine manufacturing in the United States has developed into a major industry with a yearly production valued at more than $60,000,000. About 76,000,000 pounds of milk, 129, 130,000 pounds of vegetable oil, 128, 000,000 pounds of animal fats, and 39, 450,000 pounds of cottonseed oil from American farms, are utilized in the manufacture of margarine every year. Margarine to a very large extent is made from the products of American farms."

Utilizing the Beauty of Ancient Paneling

Paneling in Tudor days was a necessity, not a luxury, and there was no other activity in the building line, as an article in Arts and Decoration Magazine. In many instances the changes and alterations are closely associated with the history of the family who were the owners of the building.
At the time of Henry VII the interior of many of the famous houses throughout the land was much changed and there seemed a greater desire for smaller and more private rooms. The great hall usually contained the finest examples of wood carving, but in Elizabethan times the long gallery and smaller rooms succeeded it and the beauty of the paneling was frequently hidden by richly colored and magnificent tapestries.
Much of this fine work has withstood the wear and tear of centuries by pure accident, in many cases being covered by thick coats of plaster (which has seemed to an erstwhile owner more attractive than the somewhat plain covering. The clever antiquary dealer of today takes a portion from one house, a door from another and a wall from a third and, if correct in period, puts them together to form a room that breathes the mellowness and charm of antiquity.

No Mere Lion's Roar Could Frighten Him

Mrs. Jones had been selected from several aunts to take Donald to the zoo. She was perfectly satisfied, as she always enjoyed being with Donald. He was a soft-voiced boy of three with curly hair, sparkling eyes and sunny smile.
The smile was much in evidence as they made their tour of the zoo. More than one animal provoked the child's laughter.
But when they got to the lion's cage the beast was carrying on so angrily that Mrs. Jones expected her nephew to be frightened. Up and down paced the tawny animal, shaking his head from side to side, swishing his tail against the iron bars of the cage. And suddenly he let out a bellowing roar that shook the building. The aunt was terrified.
"Nice-kitty," gurgled Donald, his sunny smile breaking forth again.

Birds Public Benefactors

Contrary to popular opinion, says the biological survey, various birds eat even the hairy types of caterpillars, brown tail moths, and the tent caterpillars. That bureau has found forty-five species of birds which feed exclusively on the alfalfa weevil, while sixty-six attack the cotton boll-weevil. Orioles will pick weevils out of the squares or flower buds of the cotton, while swallows feed on them when in flight and extending their range. Mallard ducks have been effectively used in ponds for mosquito control. Red-eyed vireos seem to be attracted by fall webworms, while cutworms form a large part of the diet of starlings, crows and jacksnaws. Blackbirds help to keep down the number of boll worms and many other pests. Sparrows and other birds have been observed to clean up infestations of termites. Birds should be regarded as an ever-present force that should be kept at a maximum efficiency by protective measures so that their service may be utilized whenever possible.

CONVENTION BALLOTS

Washington, D. C.—New this Convention days, ways and ballots are being discussed, the following little tabulation as to the number of ballots that were required for presidential nominations in Republican and Democratic conventions since the first Republican convention in 1856 may prove of interest:

1864—Lincoln on first; McClellan on first.
1868—Grant on first; Seymour on twenty-second.
1872—Grant on first; Greeley on first.
1876—Hayes on seventh; Tilden on second.
1880—Garfield on thirty-sixth; Hancock on second.
1884—Blaine on fourth; Cleveland on second.
1888—Harrison on eighth; Cleveland on first.
1892—Harrison on first; Cleveland on first.
1896—McKinley on first; Bryan on fifth.
1900—McKinley on first; Bryan on first.
1904—Roosevelt on first; Parker on first.
1908—Taft on first; Bryan on first.
1912—Taft on first; Wilson on forty-sixth.
1916—Hughes on third; Wilson on first.
1920—Harding on tenth; Cox on forty-fourth.
1924—Coolidge on first; Davis on one hundred third.

HOUSECLEANING TIME FOR AUTO

By R. A. Armstrong
(Service Manager-Oakland Motor Car Company.)
The automobile has been called "the extension of the home."
This is Spring housecleaning time in the home. Why not also in the automobile?
In many ways the two operations are somewhat similar. The storm doors and storm windows are being removed from the home. So should the winter fronts from automobiles.
Many residences are being repainted and similar attention would improve a lot of automobiles. Residential interiors are being cleaned and refurbished. The cushions and floor rugs of the automobile deserve similar attention. This also is true of the engine interior. Carbon should be removed and the valves ground.
In fact there are many small attentions which both a house and an automobile usually require in the spring. This is particularly true of the automobile which is so designed that it will operate at maximum efficiency under widely varying conditions of temperature and climate.
A slight turn of the adjusting screw will give the carburetor a leaner mixture. The rate of generator charge should be reduced to meet the smaller drain which longer hours of daylight impose upon the battery. These adjustments should be made by a competent automobile service man. And don't forget that a thorough oiling and greasing is an excellent Spring tonic for your car.
I mention the most obvious thing last—the cooling system. It should be drained and flushed with running water while the engine is operating. Incidentally here is a tip for the glycerine adherents. The glycerine which you take out of your radiator will not deteriorate. Save it for next winter.

THE SAGE SAYS:

When they're sick even the toughest old bachelors like to have a woman looking after them.
Unless a man honestly tries to improve himself and his work each day he does not know what real happiness is.
Can anyone explain why children take such keen delight in picking up and using such expressions as "ain't" and "it don't"?
The people who sneered at the movies and the radio when they were new now seem to be making up for the good times they missed.
How broad-minded some of us are when we are dealing with problems that don't affect us personally; how narrow-minded we become when we face our own little troubles.
What do you do with the time you save by the use of modern conveniences?
If the cash intake exceeds the cash outgo the sheriff will never bother you.

CHEBOYGAN SUPERVISORS BOOST APPROPRIATION

(By E. M. T. Service)
The Cheboygan Board of Supervisors at its April session voted to pay the NorthEastern Michigan Development Bureau an additional $500 to be used in advertising the recreational advantages of the county and section. This is a total of $1,000 which the Development Bureau will receive from Cheboygan for 1928.
A movement is on foot in Cheboygan county to stage a celebration this summer in connection with the opening of the new locks which join Lake Huron to that great chain of inland lakes and rivers. Tentative plans contemplate an historical pageant in connection with the observance which will cover a period of two or three days.
Cheboygan county and that section are particularly rich in historical background, some of the most colorful of Michigan's history having had its genesis in that vicinity. The supervisors appropriated $500 to aid in the observance.

Dangerous Jobs

Firing a railroad locomotive stands fifth among the most dangerous American occupations in a table prepared by the labor bureau, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The percentage of deaths from accidents among this class of workers is 43.8 while that of the highest, drivers in coal mines, is 81.1 per cent. Powder makers are second and railroad brakemen and electric linemen third and fourth.

ON READING BOOKS

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

"T WAS under a cartoon that I saw the query.
"How's that?" the owner of the library said to his friend in a boastful and self-satisfied tone, as he showed him his collection of books. "Every one of them a priceless first edition."
"What's this one alone over here?" the friend inquired as his eye catches a lone thin volume standing by itself upon an otherwise empty shelf.
"Oh!" the owner explains, "That's the one I've read."

It is one thing to have books; it is quite another thing to have read them. A good many people who have shelves full of books in their libraries might as well have only the false covers without the contents, such as we see in the stage setting of theaters or in furniture stores where they sell book-cases.

My friend Chesley is a collector of books—rare books, beautiful books, unusual books, books which are difficult to obtain, and yet he could hardly be called a regular reader of books. In fact he reads only moderately. If you would take his precious books from the shelves to give them a more careful examination, you would be likely to see how clean and white the pages are, as if they had never had close contact with working hands. You would no doubt discover, as I did, that the pages of many of them had never been cut, and so the book has yet to have its first reading.

Chesley would have no sense of duty neglected if you would call his attention to these facts. He doesn't find much pleasure in the reading of books, and he says so quite naively. His pleasure is in having something unusual, something that his friends cannot afford, cannot get their hands on. His is only the pleasure of a collector.

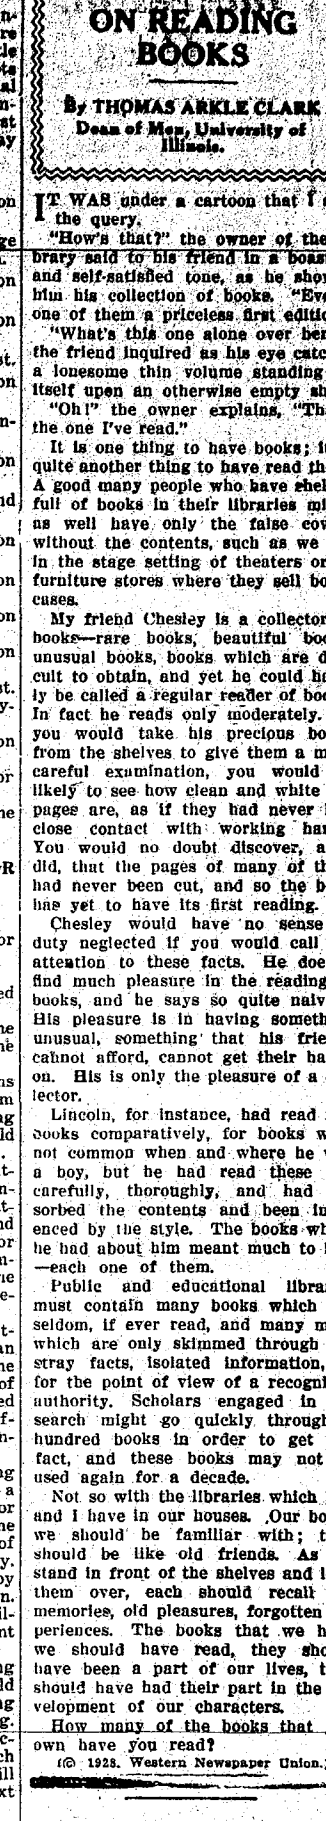

Lincoln, for instance, had read few books comparatively, for books were not common when and where he was a boy, but he had read these few carefully, thoroughly, and had absorbed the contents and been influenced by the style. The books which he had about him meant much to him—each one of them.

Public and educational libraries must contain many books which are seldom, if ever read, and many more which are only skimmed through for stray facts, isolated information, or for the point of view of a recognized authority. Scholars engaged in research might go quickly through a hundred books in order to get one fact, and these books may not be used again for a decade.

Not so with the libraries which you and I have in our houses. Our books we should be familiar with; they should be like old friends. As we stand in front of the shelves and look them over, each should recall old memories, old pleasures, forgotten experiences. The books that we have we should have read; they should have been a part of our lives, they should have had their part in the development of our characters.

How many of the books that you own have you read?

To honor Miss Beulah Colleen, a bride of this week. Misses Fernie Armstrong and Kathryn Brown, were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower Tuesday evening at the home of the latter. Dust cloths were hemmed for the bride and in making a prophecy book, Mrs. Carl Hanson won the prize. The lunch table looked most inviting with a centerpiece of sweet peas and baby breath and white and gold tapers. There were 20 guests.

The State Highway department has removed its repair and construction equipment from the county barn on Cedar street to Roscommon where they have constructed a new building for housing their equipment. The local barn has been rented to the State for several years past, together with trucks and other road machinery. It is claimed by county officials that Crawford county was losing about $1,500 annually on the arrangement and for that reason they had passed a resolution asking the State to give up the lease. Ralph Hanna of the maintenance department, says that he doesn't believe the County was losing any money. There has been considerable discussion on the streets about the matter, both pro and con. It looks as tho both sides were partly right and partly wrong. A careful check up on the affairs will be made and the real facts ascertained. In the meantime it is hardly fair for any of us to criticize any of the county or the State highway officers. If there is any misunderstanding it will surely right itself. If there have been any irregularities let us hope they will be corrected. This is no time to blame or criticize. When we have confidence that a public official is trying to do the right thing, let's stand back of him whether we think his judgment has been wrong or right. In time everything will be all right and there will be kindly harmony among the people of the old home town.

Offer of United States to Sign Treaty Outlining All Wars

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

WAR is so obvious to the United States that this country is ready to conclude with the French, British, Italian, German and Japanese governments a single multi-lateral treaty binding the parties thereto not to resort to war with one another.

Such is the important statement made in Secretary of State Kellogg's latest note to France, and he adds the stipulation that the treaty should be open to adherence by any and all other governments.

Mr. Kellogg disputes the French contention that obligations imposed by the League of Nations make impossible the acceptance of multi-lateral treaties outlawing all wars by members of the league, and asserts that the value of any treaty renouncing war would be destroyed if it were encumbered with definition of the word aggressive and by qualifications stipulating when nations would be justified in going to war. Says the secretary of state:

"I cannot avoid the feeling that if governments should publicly acknowledge that they can only deal with this ideal in a technical spirit and must insist upon the adoption of reservations impairing, if not utterly destroying, the true significance of their common endeavors, they would be in effect only recording their impotence, to the keen disappointment of mankind in general."

In support of his contention that league members can join with other powers in renouncing war, Mr. Kellogg points to the fact that at the Havana pan-American conference a resolution was adopted expressing "unqualified condemnation of war as an instrument of national policy in their mutual relations."

International law experts of the league in Geneva unanimously approved Mr. Kellogg's statement that league members could sign such treaties as he proposes without violating their obligations to the league, but members of the security commission in session in the Swiss city, especially those from central European countries, commented on the American note coldly, asserting that the Kellogg plan would never work in central Europe, where specific guarantees are needed to prevent war. In Paris the statesmen at first were sarcastic but later seemed to be changing their minds somewhat and treating the proposal with more consideration.

The security commission made slow progress in drawing up agreements. The German delegate put forward a plan for forcing the nations to agree in advance to accept the decisions of the league council in case of dispute or to agree to an armistice if ordered by the council. This scheme was twice disapproved by Lord Cussen, the British representative, but, strangely enough, received the warm support of M. Paul-Boncour of France. On the other hand Britain has been supporting the Germans in their opposition to an extension of the Locarno treaty to central Europe, which the French desire.

SECRETARY KELLOGG explained the new French arbitration treaty to the senate foreign relations committee and that body gave it unanimous approval. It will be taken up for debate in the senate after notes have been exchanged with France making it perfectly clear that the new treaty in no way contravenes the Bryan conciliation treaty of 1914.

SENOR CANTILLO, Argentine minister to Switzerland and representative on the security commission, made occasion the other day for a well-staged attack on the Monroe Doctrine, which the Argentine government seems determined to discredit. Cantillo criticized the specific inclusion of the Monroe Doctrine in article 21 of the league covenant as a "valid example of international engagements or regional understandings." This, he asserted, is a "historical untruth," to which he added: "It would be ineffectual to give the name of regional agreement to a unilateral political declaration which never has been explicitly approved by the other American countries."

In Buenos Aires Foreign Minister Gallardo said Cantillo's words were merely a recital of fact and should not be construed as an unfriendly gesture to the United States.

FIVE more American marines were killed and eight wounded when a pack train was ambushed by a hundred of Sandino's bandits on the trail between Yali and Ocotil, Nicaragua. Those killed were Corporal Cicero D. Austin, Crockett, Texas; Privates John C. Pump, Council Bluffs, Iowa; George E. Robbins, San Antonio, Texas; Albert Schlauch, Jamestown, N. D.; and Curtis J. Mott, Trenton, Wash. The marines' casualties in Nicaragua now total 18 killed and 48 wounded.

SENATOR BORAH, who subjects all Presidential candidates to a prohibition questionnaire, was himself quizzed by Cincinnati man who asked whether the Indiana favors the principles and practices of super-government as exemplified by the Anti-Saloon league, the board of prohibition, temperance and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church and the late Ku Klux Klan. Senator Borah said that "assuming for the purposes of this letter that I am a candidate for President—which I am not—and assuming for the purposes of this letter that the implications and inferences and statements in your questions are based upon facts," his answers were "no."

THE battle for convention delegates was nearly over, but there was no special change in the outlook during the week. Lowden seemed to be going strongly Lowden's way, and the Illinoisan personally entered his name in the Chicago primary. In his home state Lowden has the position of Mayor Thompson's opponent, while in Washington recently he adopted the "draft" position, and later led the "draft" campaign. He was put into the Michigan primary race by voluminous signed petitions and it was announced that Lowden would not be entered. Though the Hoover sentiment seemed exceedingly strong it was thought likely the supporters of Lowden and Dawes would try to prevent a general endorsement of Hoover by the state convention.

Senator Reed of Missouri continued his speaking tour of the Southwest and West, and his friends believed he was increasing his chances, daily. Naturally he has been induced by his own state, and he is not unlikely to get the votes of Kansas and Louisiana. Also he has a chance to get the delegations from Ohio, Arkansas and Indiana, after they have done their duty by their favorite sons. He must benefit, too, by the religious controversy that unfortunately is certain to trouble the convention in Houston. Al Smith's name has been entered in North Dakota, and it probably will appear alone on the Democratic ticket in the Michigan primary.

ORGANIZATIONS interested in prohibition are determined that the wetts shall not nominate a wet candidate, to say nothing of electing one President. Their leaders, meeting in Washington, demanded that there should be a plank in the platform of each major party calling for strict enforcement of prohibition laws, and even more strongly demanding that no recognized wet should be placed at the head of either ticket. As the committee on resolutions pointed out: "The strongest prohibition law enforcement plank would be neutralized and would be practically worthless if its adoption should be followed by nomination of candidates hostile to prohibition."

CONFORMING in a measure to the reiterated views of President Coolidge, the senate commerce committee approved a flood control bill providing for local participation in the cost of the work, and it was introduced by Senator Jones of Washington.

The bill, which authorizes the expenditure of $325,000,000, is regarded as going a long way toward meeting the views of the administration, although it does not do so in all particulars. It declares for the principle of local contribution and provides that local communities shall pay one-third of the cost of bringing levees on the lower Mississippi up to the 1914 standard, but that thereafter they shall be relieved of further contributions to the cost of construction of levees or other flood control works. The chief point of difference from the Coolidge plan is the failure to provide for an economic commission to recommend the exact extent of local contributions.

LOS ANGELES, the navy's great dirigible, made a nonstop flight last week from Lakehurst, N. J., to France field, Panama Canal Zone covering the 2,285 miles in 39 hours. The big airship functioned perfectly and the trip was without special incident. After a brief stay the Los Angeles then flew to Cuban waters, and thence back to its home hangar. Trustees of the Woodrow foundation unanimously voted to confer on Col. Charles A. Lindbergh the Woodrow Wilson peace award of $25,000 and a medal for his flight across the Atlantic and his other flights in the interests of international amity. The house of representatives passed a bill appropriating $1,500 for the purchase of a gold medal for Lindbergh and providing for coinage and sale of bronze duplicates. The colonel appeared before a joint session of the house and senate of the New York legislature and made a plea for legislation for the promotion of aviation.

WHILE senatorial investigators of conditions in the bituminous coal fields of western and central Pennsylvania were formulating their report, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, issued an appeal to all organized labor for money, clothing, food and supplies for mine workers there and in Ohio and northern West Virginia. "The winter months," said the appeal, "have brought intense suffering and privation to the thousands of miners who are still on strike and their families depend on them."

RELATIONS between Austria and Italy were badly strained by the former's complaints about the treatment of German-speaking citizens of Tyrol and Mussolini's expressed determination that no other nation should meddle with Italy's domestic affairs. The Italian minister to Vienna was called to Rome for conference, and the duke was preparing a speech exhorting Chancellor Seipel of Austria. The Roman press charged that Berlin newspapers were egging Austria on.

Italy's colonial troops have been winning big victories over the Arab tribesmen of the Tripolitanian littoral and have virtually ended the rebellion in that region. In two battles about 700 of the natives were killed. Marshal Armando Diaz, who was commander-in-chief of the Italian armies during the last year of the World war, died Wednesday at the age of sixty-seven. After he succeeded General Cadorna he drove the Austrian forces out of Italy in a whirlwind campaign.

PITY the poor natives of British Samoa! Burdened with taxes for the support of a horde of officials from New Zealand and ruled by a tyrannical government and complacent council, they sought relief by appeal to the New Zealand government which holds the mandate. Their pleas were turned down by a royal commissioner and many of their chiefs were sent into exile. Then the Mau league of Samoa resorted to a boycott of the local white storekeepers and this got them into further trouble. Dispatches state that 400 members of the Mau have been sent to six months' imprisonment. Samoa probably is too far away and too small to engage the attention of the League of Nations, and the natives, though their cause may be just, are unfortunate in having a coterie of contentions whites as their leaders.

Frederic School Notes

Editor: Mary Bender.
Assistant editor: Doris Coraust.

The Zoology Class have begun their outside readings. There are thirteen different references which are to be read and a written report given. They are taken from Government Bulletins and Nature magazine and cover the groups of fish, reptiles, birds and insects. Monday for laboratory work the class examined the embryo of a chicken which had been in the incubator twelve days. The egg was given to the class by Mrs. Odell the intermediate teacher.

The Physics Class is studying "Vacuum Tubes and Radio Communication."

The Seniors are busy working on their speeches for commencement.

Helen is interested in a newly invented alarm clock which is guaranteed to close the windows and regulate the heat when everything is ready the alarm rings and the person can dress in absolute comfort.

Some of our High School students have already made public their desires for the future. Ralph desires to be a mathematics instructor. We feel sure that he will be a great success as he has already made some astounding discoveries in that field. Keith has been so successful as President of the Senior Class that he will do duty run for office as president of the United States. The Seniors have all promised their loyal support. Doris desires to teach school. We suggest specialization in English Literature. Helen says nothing can prevent her from raising poultry. Ethel Wikson could not fully decide but she has expressed the wish to always remain a "Freshie."

Intermediate Department

The 6th Grade have only one chapter left in History. Then we will have a review of the whole book.

It seems good to have the children out of doors at recess. They enjoy the playground equipment.

The 6th Graders are improving in reading.

The 4th Grade is using short methods in arithmetic.

Our teacher is reading "Jack, the Runaway" by Frank Webster for opening exercises after the bible reading. We all enjoy it very much.

Erma Barber has such a bad cold that she can hardly talk out loud but she is on hand to do what she can.

Our teacher has promised the pupils of Miss Barber's room and our room a talk by the missionaries of Camp Four who are coming to visit our room in the near future.

The pupils are making good use of the library books.

Lloyd Highen has been absent on account of illness.

All visitors are welcome. School will soon be out, come while you may.

Miss Odell, teacher.
Primary Room

We are awaiting the appearance of our report cards. Be patient boys and girls, they will come soon.

A regular snowball battle is on this week. Better hurry, soon there won't be any snow.

Andy Arnold is absent on account of sickness.

Alfred Wilcox has been absent for some time being sick. Now he has a sore heel and unable to wear his shoes. We look for him back soon.

Second and Third Graders are working faithfully for perfect papers in arithmetic. The one hundred papers are placed on the board.

Bernice Bond visited school Monday.

The First Graders have finished their second book in reading.

Doris Leng was a visitor in our room last Friday.

Visitors are always welcome.

Miss Barber, teacher.

A U. S.-British radio war is said to be practically certain. Doubtless we will soon be getting broadsides of static from the other side of the Atlantic.

Homespun Frock

The modern homespun frock we are showing, worn by Marceline Day, is the heroine of "The Big City." It is far cry from the old-fashioned homespun our grandmothers wore. It has a three-tiered skirt edged in dark brown with collar and cuffs of white linen edged with brown.

OUR WAR WITH TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

By Erwin Greer
(President Greer School of Electrical & Automotive Trades, Chicago, Ill.)

A traffic accident does not come as a shock and horror to all the people at once but only to an individual or to a family or business group. Consequently public effort towards prevention has not up to the present been a great inclusive direct movement of all the people, but has been conducted as a delegated duty by professional administrators and by voluntary agencies created and put forth for that purpose.

It must be apparent to any thinking person that the accident problem cannot be cleared up, even to a point where there is satisfaction in effort, until the whole people are aroused and there is an organization including everyone to combat it.

Don't take left-hand blind corners at high speed. Even if you hug the right side of the street, you must remember that you may meet one, who, on his wrong side, is taking the corner in the opposite direction. If you must speed, buy a racing car. Those things are built especially for people who have nowhere to go and who want to get there immediately if not sooner. Usually, though, the trip is suddenly abbreviated by the undertaker.

When passing over wet pavements and slippery roads, avoid sudden turns and spasmodic applications of the brakes. Remember that skidding resulted in the invention of curbs and that a skid is the uncontrollable feature of a car which is synonymous with jumping from a cliff in two jumps. When you feel the rear of the car starting to slide, turn the front wheels quickly in the same direction that the rear wheels are taking and don't touch the brakes. The car will right itself if you follow these directions.

Don't forget that on many country roads the car, when driven at high speed, leaves behind it a most unpleasant cloud of dust. You would not feel particularly well disposed toward anyone, who wantonly smothered your smartest clothes in dust and dirt.

Don't drive over wet streets and roads. A hole full of water may not mean much to you, but to the pedestrian who receives in his face the water ejected from the hole by your tire is a matter of moment, usually of indignation. Remember the time a taxi splattered you with mud.

A fashion note of spring styles for women says the dresses are to be worn two inches below the knee, but fails to state whether standing or sitting.—Atlanta Constitution.

THE PUTTING OFF KIND

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

SOLOMON TWINNEY, so the story went, was talking to Jake Bingham about a job. There was plenty to be done and Jake himself was not just crazy to overwork. He meant to do a great many things which never got done. There was a well curb which had needed fixing for a decade or so, the fences were down or leaning in many places, and the corn ought to have been plowed a week ago.

"Well, when could you come?" asked Jake, thinking that Solomon would need a few days possibly to get his effects together.

"Right now," Solomon answered. "There's work to be done here, and done right away. I ain't one of the putting-off kind. What I say is, if a thing has got to be done, do it right away—not tomorrow, nor next day, nor next week, nor as soon as you can get around to it."

I have had a good deal to do myself with the putting-off kind—men who had the best intentions in the world, who were going to do this or cease doing that, but who set no particular time for the consummation of their purposes.

I bought a clock of Johnson four or five years ago. It was a good clock, but there was a flaw in the dial when it was delivered. The clock was got in celebration of an anniversary, and in spite of the fact that it was not perfect it seemed best to receive it.

"I'll see that the thing is made good," Mr. Clark Johnson assured me. "The last thing I should want to sell you is an imperfect article. I'm expecting a new shipment in next week, and I'll sure make it right." I've called Mr. Johnson several times since. He was each time just on the verge of doing something and he thanked me for reminding him. That was five years ago, as I said, and the clock is as it was when I got it. Johnson is evidently one of the putting-off kind.

Smithers is going about on crutches having just gotten out after some weeks of nursing a broken leg. There was a loose board in the walk leading from Smithers' back door to the garage. He had seen it himself often and Mrs. Smithers had called his attention more often than he had himself noticed it. He had meant to fix it. A single nail properly employed would have done the work, but he was one of the putting-off kind and, going out to the garage in the dark, he had tripped and cracked a bone.

There are all sorts of things we can put off if we are that kind—an answering letter, paying calls or the monthly bills, joining the church, giving up tobacco, taking our life insurance—anything that does not show itself to have to be done on the moment. But putting off is merely a habit, and a very bad habit which, once fallen into, gradually possesses us.

GOOD SERVICE IS NECESSARY

(By E. M. T. Service)

The Detroit News in a recent editorial emphasizes responsibilities which residents of Michigan have in supporting Michigan's recreational appeals and attractions in the following words:

"But it now is up to the commercial interests to do their part. The tourists will leave Michigan after a vacation largely influenced by the kind of food they have eaten, the kind of beds they have slept in, the kind of entertainment that has been furnished them and the prices they have been charged. And no matter how beautiful they have found Michigan scenery or how delightful its climate or how prolific its lakes and ponds and charming its beaches, few will come back unless they have a pleasant recollection of their treatment in the places where they have parted with money."

FREDERIC NEWS

Some real winter the last few days. Little Genevieve Green has returned home from Mercy hospital where she was a patient for five weeks.

Ed. Preston was in town Monday for a few hours. Mrs. Preston is still at her parents home, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Craven.

Mrs. Peter Harmer and children of Pontiac are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Horton.

Mr. George Hunter is now working at the Military reservation.

A number of persons gave a surprise party on Albert Lewis last Wednesday. It was a real surprise as he had almost forgotten that it was his birthday. Everyone enjoyed it. A delicious lunch was served at 12:00 o'clock. He received a very useful gift as a token of remembrance from his Frederic friends.

Ashley Short was removed to Mercy hospital Thursday night. At this writing he is in a very critical condition.

Rev. and Mrs. Earle are visiting at Caro this week. Mr. Payne delivered an address Sunday evening.

Several of our usual standbys were absent from church and Sunday School last Sunday owing to sickness. We missed you girls—hope you'll be with us this Sunday.

For sometime a fishing contest has been going on for new members in Sunday School. Easter Sunday was the last day. Mrs. Odell received the highest score and received her present last Sunday.

Mrs. Odell entertained her old schoolmates and friends, Miss LaSor and Mrs. Duffy over the week end. These two ladies are missionaries from Camp 4. These schoolmates had not seen each other for twenty years. They enjoyed talking over old school days. These missionaries took charge of the morning services at the M. E. church. A good collection was taken up for them which they appreciated very much.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle are attending a minister's conference at Caro.

Mrs. John Burke is home again after making a trip to Bay City to confer with doctors there on her health.

which was decided nothing serious.

Lieut. Preston visited his wife here Monday by plane from Lansing. She will return home shortly.

Norman Fisher who has been on the sick list is improving.

Pete Short, a young man passed away Tuesday afternoon of some unknown cause at Mercy hospital.

The John Green child came home from the hospital last Thursday much improved.

Clyde Dormire of Waters, who was operated on at Gaylord for appendicitis last Friday is doing fine.

Mrs. Sidney is helping at the Leng restaurant in Mrs. Earle's absence.

At the price of ordinary gasoline

Keep a record—watch your expenses—make comparisons—see for yourself how much LESS it costs to run your car on 400 "Extra Dry" than any other gasoline that sells at the regular price.

Full mileage from every gallon. Yes—and that's only one of the many good results you may expect from this superior gasoline. Instant starting in any weather—swift getaway when the green light flashes—acceleration that thrills and exhilarates—and in addition to all this, a cleaner, sweeter-running motor with less expense for valve grinding and general overhauling.

The reason is plain—Shell Gasoline is refined by a revolutionary process that takes only the most volatile elements from the crude. It is extra dry, which means it is ALL gasoline. Every drop vaporizes—every particle is converted into power—there are no impurities or greasy particles to clog up the spark plugs, pass the pistons unburned and dilute the oil in the crankcase.

Treat your car to this better gasoline. You will find it on sale at all Shell yellow-red service stations and Shell Dealers at the regular price—not one cent extra for its extra quality, or the extra service it will give you.
